But perhaps it was too hot to sew. And after all, what better fate befel the poor Lady of Shalott who industriously Weaved by night and day, A magic web with colours gay. Perhaps she worked too hard. The poets are hard to please! 162. NEEDLEWORK, says the Countess of Wilton, was twinborn with necessity, the first necessity the world had ever known, but she quickly left this stern and unattractive companion, and followed many leaders in her wide and varied range. She became the handmaiden of Fancy; she adorned the train of Magnificence; she waited upon Pomp; she decorated Religion; she obeyed Charity; she served Utility; she aided Pleasure; she pranked out Fun; and she mingled with all and every circumstance of life. Such is the important part the little needle plays in life, and the task is a...
